Development of Guidance and other Documents Formatting and Approval Process EGAD (Updated 2019)	This document explains how to format guidance, obtain approvals and sign-offs for guidance and other documents, and provide the information necessary for entry into the Electronic Guidance and Document (EGAD) Database. Storage in EGAD allows guidance and other documents to be housed in one place, sorted by type as noted above, and linked to from internet and intranet pages. Following these procedures is expected to improve consistency in how guidance, other documents, and publications are developed, approved, and stored.	Fleming, Limberg, Riley, Helmuth	12/12/2019
